Love to write? The Howard Nemerov Writing Scholarships are designed for students with a true dedication to writing and exceptional writing talent. Scholars participate in a series of educational experiences designed to meet the needs and interests of writers, including enrollment in the Howard Nemerov Writing Seminar, submission of their work to campus publications, attendance at and participation in writing-related social activities, and a commitment to earn a minor in English writing.

TO APPLY:

- On your application for admission to the Class of 2023, select a major in the College of Arts & Sciences.
- Through the WashU Pathway, submit the separate application for the Howard Nemerov Writing Scholarships.
- Submit a portfolio that includes the following:
  - Two samples of your creative writing, preferably in different genres (for example, one short story and a group of poems, or a short play and a piece of creative nonfiction or journalism). Samples should only represent the genres of creative writing — fiction, poetry, creative nonfiction, journalism, playwriting and screenwriting. Please do not send academic papers as part of your sample. Writing samples should not include instructor notes, comments, or grades.

NOTIFICATION FOR FINALISTS: Finalists will be notified by mid-March and invited to campus for an interview with the director of the program.
